Novastone Capital Advisors, which has closed 11 platform deals in the last 12 months through its innovative ETA-meets-Succession solution, has appointed Daniel Gärtner as Managing Partner and made seven more important appointments.

Baar, Switzerland (October 23, 2023): Novastone Capital Advisors (NCA) announced today several promotions and hires intended to create even more momentum during a year that proved resoundingly that the company's model works. The company's Entrepreneurship Through Acquisition method was used to close 11 platform deals, almost all of them SMEs facing succession issues. The announcement was made by Christian Malek, Group CEO and Partner.

NCA's new Managing Partner, Daniel Gärtner first came to NCA as part of its ETA program and brings a solid background in M&A and private equity, and as an investor and operator as well. In his new role, he will have oversight of Entrepreneur Success Management & DDO (Data, Digital, and Operations); Investment Management (M&A) and Portfolio Management and the Assessment Center.

"I'm so grateful to our team and the way they've helped prove my ideas about Entrepreneurship Through Acquisition and Succession can really make a difference," said Christian Malek, Group CEO and Partner. "We have our first 11 platform deals done in the last 12 months, and that includes deals in the U.S., Canada, Spain, Italy, Germany, and of course here in Switzerland. The SMEs acquired cover some of the most exciting sectors of our era and range from companies with ten employees to ones with one thousand. And – let me make this clear – all the targeted companies already had strong revenue, a healthy EBITDA margin, and a diversified range of both clients and suppliers."

Additional promotions and assignments include the following: Taylor Perry, formerly an Investment Manager, becomes Head of Global M&A; Jessica Ajzensztejn, currently Senior Data Analyst, is now Head of DDO; Christopher Meier becomes the Director of Investor Relations, a department which will be growing significantly, and Arantxa Aguilar based in Switzerland, will now be leading the Legal Department. We are also building a Portfolio Management Team and Piotr Zawadzki will be the department head.
